Sponsored by the Division of Water Resources, NC DENR

EVENT – The Division of Water Resources (DWR), North Carolina Department of Environment and Natural Resources (DENR) will host a public meeting to review the development of the Roanoke River Basin Hydrologic Model and its relation to the Roanoke River Basin Water Resources Plan on – August 23, 2012, 10:30 A.M. - 12:30 P.M.

H. Leslie Perry Memorial Library, Farm Bureau Room
205 Breckenridge Street, Henderson, NC 27536

PURPOSE – The DWR staff and HydroLogics, Inc. will –

- provide information on the development and application of the OASIS Roanoke river basin hydrologic model and its use in the river basin planning process;
- present the current state of development of the hydrologic model; identify required data, data collection methods for agricultural and other non-point sources, and local data sources and contacts; and review the collection and use of data for point sources such as municipal surface water and wastewater treatment operations;
- indicate how model results of current and future demand scenarios are used; and
- receive information and comments from the public.

DWR particularly encourages participation by municipal and other large surface water users and dischargers.

PARTICIPATION – The kickoff meeting is free and open to the public. DWR encourages attendance and participation onsite or via live webcast.

No notice or registration is required. However, indication of intent to attend onsite or via the webcast would allow DWR to better plan for the event.
