Water Withdrawal and Transfer Registration

Overview Reports FAQ NCID Login

What is NCID?

Beginning January 1, 2020, users submitting data using the Water Withdrawal & Transfer Registration application may use an NCID to log in. This is a one-time registration that can be used across applications spanning multiple state departments, divisions, and agencies. It will become the only way to log in for data entry on January 1, 2021.

It is especially beneficial for those users who enter data for multiple facilities, and for those who enter data for systems in the Local Water Supply Plan and the WWATR. A single dashboard is provided to the user upon login, which gives them the ability to select a facility or system link to begin data entry, all without the need for multiple logins and access codes.

If you are a data entry contact for the Local Water Supply Plan, you should have received an email at the address we have on file for you; this email contained a unique link you could use to update your profile with your NCID. If you would like to request another email be sent to you - or you only enter data for the WWATR (and so never received an email) - please provide us with your email address. Once you receive the email, you can update your account with your NCID and then visit the login page using your new NCID and password.
